9:00 am – 4:00 pm Mechanic Educational Sessions at MTR

Sessions Include:

9:00 am -11:15 am Auxillary Heating System Maintenance: Proheat & Eberspächer Training - This session provides practical training on the maintenance, operation, and troubleshooting of Proheat and Eberspächer auxiliary heating systems commonly used in motorcoaches. Participants will review key system components, preventative maintenance practices, and common diagnostic procedures to help ensure reliable cold-weather performance. Designed for technicians and maintenance managers, this session will help reduce downtime, improve efficiency, and extend the life of auxiliary heating system equipment.

Presenters:

Scott Gallegos, Technical Solutions Manager, MCI

George Lenus, Manager – Training and National Account Support Systems & Solutions, Eberspaecher Climate Control Systems USA.

11:30 am – 12:30 pm BraunAbility wheelchair lifts - Maintenance and Troubleshooting on wheelchair lifts corrosion, secure connections, and proper charging help ensure reliable operation. For many fleets, batteries are the third largest expense after fuel and tires due to the number required per coach and their regular replacement cycle. Proper maintenance helps extend battery life, reduce failures, and prevent costly downtime.

3:00 pm – 4:00 pm Maintaining Emergency Exit Systems: Mechanical Inspection & Safety Compliance - Properly functioning emergency exits are a critical mechanical safety component on every motorcoach. This session will focus on the maintenance and inspection of emergency exit systems, including roof hatches, side windows, and rear emergency doors. Participants will review common mechanical issues such as worn latches, faulty release mechanisms, damaged seals, and obstructed hinges that can prevent exits from operating properly during an emergency. The session will also cover routine inspection procedures, preventative maintenance practices, and documentation requirements to ensure compliance with safety regulations. Maintenance personnel and operators will gain practical insight into identifying potential failures before they occur and implementing maintenance protocols that keep emergency exit systems fully operational and accessible, helping protect passengers and drivers in critical situations.

2:30 pm – 4:30 pm Educational Session III – Operators/Staff - OSHA 300 Demystified: What Operators Must Track, and Why - OSHA recordkeeping doesn't have to be confusing—or intimidating. This session breaks down the OSHA 300 Log in plain language, giving motorcoach operators a clear understanding of what incidents must be recorded, what does not belong on the log, and why accuracy matters. Attendees will walk through real-world scenarios, common mistakes operators make, and best practices for maintaining compliant, defensible records. Whether you oversee safety, operations, or the entire organization, this session will help you reduce risk, avoid costly errors, and approach OSHA reporting with confidence.
